

Realm Racing on the Gas in Timmins Ontario

The snow dump in Timmins, Ontario was the site for CSRA Rounds 7 and 8. There's never a shortage of snow for the races in this northern community. Held during snowmobile week it's always one of the highlights of the week.

Although the weather was a frosty -37°C in the morning at least the sun was shining and the lack of wind made it bearable. The temperatures quickly rose to -8°C with conditions ideal for racing our Polaris snowmobiles. Both our riders minor injuries had healed and they looked forward to racing this event.

Saturday's first race of the day was Junior Girls. Lindsey charged hard and managed 5th's all day and 5th overall on the day. Meghan ran well and went 7th and 6th in her heats and finished 6th overall on the day. In Transition Girls Lindsey again raced consistently 5th and 5th and managed a 4th overall narrowly missing another podium finish. Meghan ran 7th in heat one and 8th in heat two and finished up 8th.

Sunday was a new day and although the temperatures were warmer the wind was blowing and the sky was overcast making it feel colder than the previous day. The girls were well rested and anxiously waited in staging to run their first race of the day. Both Lindsey and Meghan raced hard off the line and quickly jumped into 3rd and 5th place respectively and held their positions until the end of the first heat. The second heat was much of the same. Lindsey held 3rd position until the last lap finishing just off the box again and a little disappointed for a 4th overall. Meghan in her own battle for 5th place, ended up finishing in 6th and 6th overall on that day.

In Transition Girls Lindsey again stayed consistent and ran 5th, 5th, and 5th overall on the day. Meghan ran hard and again battled hard trying to hold down 6th position, finishing 6th and 7th and ended up 8th on the day.

Both girls raced with enthusiasm this weekend and ran faster than I've ever seen before. It was exciting and nerve racking at the same time. At the end of the weekend our team ventured home with grins on our faces and feeling accomplished.

The next race is The Rockstar Energy National Snowcross located at Chicopee Ski Resort in Kitchener, Ontario on March 25th and 26th. With another storm front rolling in there should be plenty of snow for the CSRA to make a great track.

Realm Racing has partnered up again with Team Rockstar Energy Polaris Racing Piller's presented by Huber Motorsports and OTSFF racing the entire 2017 season to promote autism awareness.
