Realm Racing – Horseshoe Valley and Season Wrap Up

Realm Racing riders Lindsey and Meghan McClenaghan joined forces again with Professional Snowcross team Huber Motorsports riders Colby Crapo and RJ Roy in efforts to raise Autism Awareness. Everyone had a great time and loved being involved in something that touches so many individuals.

The final three day event at Horseshoe Valley Resort would bring rain on Friday, but to our surprise not near the amounts that had been called for in the forecast. The light mist was welcomed over what we thought would be another wet day, much like the previous race weekend. Saturday and Sunday would bring two days of temperatures near 10°C and sunshine with a few cloudy periods. With abnormally warm temperatures again this season and lack of snow the CSRA managed to pull off another event once again not disappointing the individuals so eagerly wanting to race. The final three day event was sponsored on Friday by Mystik Lubricants and the Dayco National Snowcross Finals Saturday and Sunday. The past two weekends sloppy conditions weren't favourable for either of our riders and changes are already in the works for next year's snowcross season.

Lindsey finished off the three day event with 7th, 6th, and 8th place finishes in Transition Girls and 9th, 10th and 10th in Junior Girls. Lindsey had many top five finishes this season riding her Polaris snowmobile including one podium finish in Junior Girls. Her consistency paid off this year landing her in 3rd overall for Junior Girls and 5th overall in Transition Girls at the end of the season. The podium finish she had been so eagerly chasing no longer eludes her! She improved dramatically this year and having a place to practice has paid off considerably. Thanks to those at The Compound for setting up a track and blowing snow for all CSRA racers to enjoy.

Meghan's final few days of racing had her finishing 8th, 9th and 10th in Transition Girls and 10th, 11th and 11th. During Saturday's racing Meghan had a spill that found her being run over by one of the sleds. The race was red flagged and she wouldn't be able to continue racing that day. Meghan was determined to get back on her Polaris snowmobile and continue racing the remainder of the weekend. I'm so proud of her hard work and determination. She wasn't pushed to race and made the decision on her own to continue. Her biggest goal this year was to beat her sister Lindsey. After a couple race weekends the much determined younger sibling managed to accomplish her goal. Not just once but on three or four other occasions. The two girls will continue to push each other hard during next year's season in Junior Girls. With two years left in Transition Girls I suspect we'll see her on the box soon! Meghan finished the season 4th overall in Junior Girls and 6th overall in Transition Girls.

What a fantastic season, this being our second year riding the entire CSRA schedule and I couldn't be happier. Reflecting back on the season as race team owner, crew chief and father I couldn't feel anymore blessed. We helped the kids set realistic yet attainable goals throughout the season and I'm proud of what they've accomplished. Heading into the off season we're already making plans for 2018.

Realm Racing again partnered up with the Team Rockstar Energy Polaris Racing Piller's presented by Huber Motorsports and OTSFF racing. This year it wasn't just for the last couple of races but for the entire 2017 season to promote autism awareness. Gerhart Huber heads up the initiative and has helped by providing Autism Awareness ribbons and Autism Speaks decals proudly displayed on many of the CSRA team member's snowmobiles and trailers.

Realm Racing also found time during the season to help with some fundraising for our local Autism Ontario Peterborough Chapter. St Louis Bar & Grill provided the location in collaboration with Realm Racing, Rod Hall Remax Sales Representative, Oldies 96.7 FM and Extra 90.5 FM. Monies raised are being used to fund local activities in our area.

The support we've received this year has helped make this an unbelievable season and we're already looking forward to next year. Please take the time to visit our sponsor's links below, if you need any information on anything please don't hesitate to contact us, we'd love to hear from you!
